This activity is jointly provided by AXIS Medical Education and Kentucky Hospital Research and Education Foundation
“An Ounce of Prevention: an Opioid Misuse Reduction Strategy”
In conjunction with
Kentucky Hospital Association’s 88th Annual Convention
Medical Officer/Physician Track
Lexington Convention Center • Lexington, Kentucky

Statement of Need/Program Overview
Every 18 minutes, someone in the United States dies from opioid overdose. In this 90-minute session, Drs. Chang and Oyler will highlight the current landscape of the opioid epidemic, including the role of medical prescribing in contributing to the existing crisis. Data from their experience implementing an opioid-minimizing analgesia protocol in the acute trauma setting will also be discussed. Finally, they will discuss the current efforts the University of Kentucky is undertaking to develop an opioid stewardship program, along with pearls for development at other institutions.

Educational Objectives
After completing this activity, the participant should be better able to:
• Recognize the opioid abuse crisis
• Present a model that decreased the amount of opioid required in trauma patients
• Review how to start and implement an opioid stewardship committee

Target Audience
This activity has been designed to meet the educational needs of physicians, nurses, pharmacists and other clinicians.

Faculty
Dr. Phillip K. Chang, MD, FACS, Chief Medical Officer for UK HealthCare
As CMO, Dr. Chang is a key member of the senior leadership team, focusing directly on clinical outcomes, patient experience, team member and faculty engagement and efficiency. In addition, Dr. Chang has also played a critical role in forging a collaboration between the pediatric cardiology programs at UK HealthCare’s Kentucky Children’s Hospital and Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Heart Institute.

Prior to his role as CMO, Dr. Chang served as medical director for perioperative services and associate CMO for UK HealthCare. In 2015, Dr. Chang was part of a team that conducted a literature review focusing on opioid pain management, leading to the implementation of a non-opioid pain management strategy for UK HealthCare.

Dr. Chang completed his undergraduate education at The College of William and Mary in Virginia and received his medical degree from Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk. In 1999, he began a surgical internship at UK HealthCare’s Chandler Medical Center, which led to a general surgery residency and a surgical fellowship, also at UK. Since 2005 he has been a member of the surgical faculty, rising to the rank of associate professor of surgery in the College of Medicine and the role of chief of the Section of Trauma and Critical Care. He is board certified in surgery as well as surgical critical care. Dr. Chang currently is pursuing an MBA from the Gatton College of Business.

Dr. Douglas Oyler, PharmD, BCCCP
Dr. Oyler graduated from the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy in 2010, where he subsequently completed both his residency and fellowship training. He has authored multiple peer-reviewed publications and book chapters related to pain management and opioid use. He currently serves as the chair of the opioid stewardship committee at UK HealthCare. He also provides pharmacy support to the trauma/surgical services at UK and holds an adjunct appointment at the UK College of Pharmacy.
